OCCUPATION GUIDE BASICS

The occupation class is based on the actual duties performed and is affected by factors such as:

- Environmental hazards
- Claims experience
- Stability and motivation
- Education and training

The occupation class determines:

- Plan, benefit period, optional benefit and rider availability
- Own occupation period
- Premium rate

To determine the proper occupation class:

- Obtain a detailed description of the actual duties performed. Job title alone is not sufficient.
- Obtain the percentage of time actually spent performing professional, managerial, and administrative duties vs. trade, services, or manual labor duties.
- Match the percentage breakdown of actual duties performed to the most appropriate occupation class category listed below. Individual circumstances will vary and the Underwriting Department has final approval authority based on the available information.

CLASS DEFINITIONS

Class 5

Occupations where the duties are limited to administrative, professional, managerial and clerical with no manual labor or service demands and minimal physical dexterity demands. Typically, advanced or specialized education, training, or experience is required. Examples include accountants, actuaries, bookkeepers, computer analysts, draftsmen, and secretaries.

Class 4

Occupations where the duties include professional and specialized technical functions that may require physical dexterity with little or no manual labor or services*. Typically, advanced or specialized education, training or experience is required. Examples include surgeons, dentists and CRNAs.

* "Little or no manual labor or services" means no more than 10% of the time performing manual labor or services not to exceed 4 hours in any given workweek where at least 3 full-time employees or at least 5 subcontractors performing manual labor or services are directly supervised or managed by the Proposed Insured.

Class 3

Occupations where the duties include professional, semi-professional, supervisory or technical functions that may require on-site supervision, moderate physical dexterity with little or no manual labor or services*. Typically, specialized training or experience is required. Examples include cashiers, dental hygienists, medical technicians and on-site supervisors.

Class 2

Occupations where the duties include semi-professional, skilled trade or technical functions that may require continual physical dexterity and manual labor or services. Specialized training or skills are required. Examples include carpenters, electricians, farmers, mechanics, plumbers, cosmetologists and truck drivers.

Class 1

Occupations where the duties include technical or trade functions that may require heavy manual labor or services, continual physical dexterity and hazardous environmental exposure. Basic skills or training is required. Typically, longer periods of recuperation from disability are required. Examples include chiropractors, factory laborers, firemen, policemen, roofers and carpet layers.

NI = Not Insurable

Occupations considered uninsurable for disability income coverage based on duties that may require severe environmental hazard exposure, and may involve extraordinary psychological stressors, extreme physical dexterity and excessive manual labor or services. Examples include air traffic controllers, pilots, linemen and iron workers.

Occupation Guide Classifications

For simplicity, the occupation guide lists common occupations with the appropriate class. This is only a guide and the Underwriting Department has final approval authority based on the information received. Also noted is the maximum benefit period available for each occupation listed. Individual circumstances will vary and the guide is not all inclusive.

Please contact your DI Sales team or the Underwriting Department by phone (800) 437-7355 or by email DISales@IllinoisMutual.com or Underwriting@IllinoisMutual.com for assistance with occupation classes.

Federal, state, county or municipal government funded/subsidized organizations, or those with similar government sponsored benefit programs such as postal workers or railroad employees, will be subject to the same issue and participation limits as government employees.

Government employees are subject to the following special underwriting issue and participation limits:

- The Base Monthly Benefit is limited to 30% of earned income not to exceed $2,000 per month.
- The Integrated Monthly Benefit Rider is limited to 40% of earned income not to exceed $1,800 per month.
- Coverage may not be available if there is any individual or group disability income insurance in force. Please contact the Home Office to discuss eligibility.

The Integrated Monthly Benefit Rider pays an additional Total Disability benefit reduced by receipt of Social Insurance Benefits such as Social Security, Workers' Compensation, Railroad Retirement and Government Retirement/Disability Fund. The Base Monthly Benefit is not reduced by receipt of Social Insurance Benefits.

Home Office pre-approval of payroll deduction and list billing plans for government employees is required.

HOME-BASED OCCUPATIONS

Businesses conducted from the home:

Less than 50% of the occupation duties are performed inside the home. Usual underwriting guidelines are applicable.

Examples include carpenters, electricians, plumbers, on-site service or repair people and traveling salespersons.

Businesses conducted inside the home:

50% or more of the occupation duties are performed inside the home.

- Home-based occupations where daily or weekly travel is required:

  - Complete federal income tax returns for the past two years with all schedules are required.

Examples include computer consultants, commercial photographers, manufacturing representatives, and court reporters.

- Home-based occupations where daily or weekly travel is not required, but the business office is separate from the main home with its own separate entrance. The home office is used exclusively and regularly by patients, clients or customers in the normal course of trade or business:
  - Full-time employment in current occupation for at least two years and home-based for at least one year.
  - Complete federal income tax returns for the past two years with all schedules are required.

Examples include physicians, dentists, licensed massage therapists, licensed hairstylists and CPAs.

FARMER GUIDELINES

Even if farm expenses including depreciation result in little or no reportable income (profit) for federal income tax purposes, farmers are usually eligible for individual and/or business expense coverage. Use the acreage or herd size to determine the monthly benefit amount available on DI105 and BE105 when income cannot be verified by tax returns.

Farm Size (Acres)	Herd Size (Head)	Amount (Monthly)
200+	24-49	Up to $1,500
350+	50-74	Up to $2,000
500+	75+	Up to $2,500

- Indicate the number of acres farmed or herd size on the application.
- Any member of a farm family proposed for DI must demonstrate full time participation in the farming operation, exclusive of household chores.
- The size and scope of the farming operation must support the total amount of DI proposed on all family members.

The following guidelines apply to farm spouses actively working and participating in the farm operation a minimum 30 hours per week.

- 6 month, 1 year or 2 year benefit periods available
- Occupation class 2.

Guidelines for Farm Working Spouses
Farm Size (Acres)	Herd Size (Head)	Amount (Monthly)
200+	24-49	Up to $400
350+	50-74	Up to $600
500+	75+	Up to $800

The Activities of Daily Living Rider (ADL) is available to farmers and farm working spouses who qualify for coverage based on acreage or herd size. By selling the ADL rider, your farming clients are able to purchase an ADL benefit up to 50% of the base monthly benefit amount allowed based on acreage and herd size.

MULTI-LIFE DISCOUNTS

A 5% multi-life discount is available on three or more lives based on the following guidelines:

- Employer-paid premium or Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT)

IC = INDIVIDUAL CONSIDERATION

Weight loss tends to be unstable and short-lived. When considering applicants who have lost weight within 12 months of the application completion date, indicate the reason for the weight loss and add half of the weight lost back to the current weight prior to referencing the table for the probable underwriting action.

Individuals at or above the uninsurable weight are not eligible for coverage. Individuals significantly underweight will be given individual consideration.
